It works great as is, but I'd like to do it in one statement, not two. It looks like this: SELECT (SELECT COUNT() FROM p_products WHERE product_state = 'V12') AS V12, (SELECT COUNT() FROM p_products WHERE product_state = 'V13') AS V13, (SELECT COUNT() FROM p_products WHERE product_state = 'V14') AS V14 This gives me a list of the total product counts in each state, where V12 is the count for 'V12', and so on. What I'd like to do is combine the queries in one statement. I'm only including 3 states because there are only 3 and I'd rather make it easier on myself. A: Use GROUP BY: SELECT product_state, SUM(COUNT() AS 'total' FROM p_products GROUP BY product_state A: SELECT (SELECT COUNT() FROM p_products WHERE product_state = 'V12') AS V12, (SELECT COUNT() FROM p_products WHERE product_state = 'V13') AS V13, (SELECT COUNT(*) FROM p_products WHERE product_state = 'V14') AS V14 Try the above one, it will return you the total number of products with states V12,V13 and V14 in a single query. Ce matin le groupe de Facebook Les Biens du Roi a émis des alertes pour les propriétaires de l'ancien hôtel Siminon à Beaumont-sur-Oise. Cet hôtel est bien décrit comme un bâtiment ancien. 2d92ce491b
