News AutoPost is a simple to use, reliable application that allows you to automate posting messages on your Facebook wall. The program is designed for marketing campaigns, regular updates systems or other types of activities that require similar posts being regularly published on Facebook. Create schedules for each user AutoPost allows you to manage several users from the same interface since it requires that you provide the login credentials before you can access its functions. The program allows you to create several plans for posting messages on the social network website on a regular basis. You can create schedules for auto posts every few minutes, hours or even days. You may attach several pictures to your posts, as well as comments or notes and select the target group. The program can store post templates and group categories, plus it allows you to easily import data from external files. Thus, you need to select the picture templates each time you create a new schedule, from the Ads menu. Reporting function and activity log AutoPost can display a log of all the messages that were posted according to the recurring plan and the schedule. The Report tab displays the follow-up of all the schedules you created, regardless if they generated any auto posts or not. The History is where you may view a list of all the posts published according to the pre-set plans. Each scheduled post can quickly be edited, delayed or duplicated. You may easily change the posts' start date and priority or remove them from the list. Internet access required AutoPost requires that your PC is constantly connected to the Internet so that it can successfully post the messages. Moreover, it cannot keep to the schedule if the computer is turned off. Therefore, if the recurring schedule is set to a few minutes or hours, you need to keep your computer on or at least in sleep mode. NOTE: You need to provide the serial key obtained
