Documentation: View your contacts in a list or as a table Send and receive emails from any contact in your database Schedule a meeting with your contacts Restrict access with a password Import and export your contacts to many different formats Q: Mocking a lambda expression with

RhinoMock I am trying to mock this lambda expression using RhinoMock. This is my method:

public void MyMethod(object person) { if (person.GetType() == typeof(Worker)) MyMethod(person as Worker); else if (person.GetType() == typeof(Manager)) MyMethod(person as Manager); else throw new ArgumentException("Person is not a Worker nor a Manager"); }

How can I mock the Person.GetType() method using RhinoMock?

A: I think this should work :

var method = new MockMethod( "MyMethod", new Delegate[] { new Action(MyMethod), new Action(MyMethod), new Action(MyMethod)

}); In your test, you'd do : method.Stub(x => x.Invoke(null)).Return(someType); BTW, "Person.GetType()" is probably not a good way to do that. Oxygen radicals produced by activated neutrophils and their potential role in acute lung injury. Although neutrophils KeyMacro is a fantastic and easy-to-use tool to extend your language with hotkeys and macros. This is something that is common with any of the other programs. However, it does not have a bunch of extra features that the other programs have. KeyMacro allows you to easily create a list of hotkeys that you can quickly use. There are various options that you can add to your hotkeys. You can configure the sound that is used when you use the hotkeys, you can specify what happens if you run out of hotkeys or even just how many you can use. It is also possible to create a macro of your own and this is not a feature that many programs have. There are various options to save your hotkeys and you can add as many of them as you want. Accessories

Description: This is a great little program that will allow you to add new hotkeys to any of your programs. This is especially useful if you are using a very limited set of hotkeys and you want to have more for any program that you use. It can be used in a few different ways. You can open it up, click the add button and specify what you want to hotkey. You can also add a hotkey that will open an URL when you click on it and this is very useful if you are on the Internet and you need to press a hotkey in order to open a browser. Hotkeys Description: Hotkeys is a fantastic program and you will find it to be one of the easiest programs to use. It is extremely easy to use and it will allow you to create hotkeys for any program that you use. It works like most of the other programs. You create a list of hotkeys for any program and they will be automatically added to that program. You can configure a few things with each hotkey. You can specify the behavior of the hotkey, you can specify what happens when you run out of hotkeys and even how long the hotkey will stay active for.

Saving Hotkeys Description: This is a very useful program and it allows you to save your hotkeys for each program that you use. You can choose to either keep the hotkeys available all the time or have them be available only when you are actively using the program. You can also save them as a template and use it in any of your programs.

You can choose to use one of the already existing templates or you can add your own as
