$post_types = get_post_types();
foreach ($post_types as $post_type) {
    add_filter('auto_publish',
        '__give_me_the_post_type_I_want_to_autopublish');
}
A: Once a post is created it is no longer a custom post type but the parent post type. To find it you can use get_post_type_object. In your case something like this:
function my_add_autopublish($post_type) { if (get_post_type_object($post_type)->name == 'post') {
        add_filter('auto_publish',
            '__give_me_the_post_type_I_want_to_autopublish');
    }
}
add_action('save_post', my_add_autopublish);

Check get_post_type_object() details. Enhanced Cd partitioning in response to trace elements in plantation willow (Salix miyabeana) under rice paddy water conditions. What's New in the Lazy Roulette Calculator?

This is a fun and easy-to-use application which was designed with the sole purpose of helping users to calculate the odds for their options at the Roulette game. The process is rather simple. You just need to select your roulette options. These choices include the numbers, odd/even, red/black and dozen. Once you do this, the program will do the calculations for you automatically. Lazy Roulette Calculator calculates odds for the individual selections and also for the complete roulette game. As a matter of fact, the program determines the odds for up to six numbers simultaneously. This is just the regular roulette game. The application provides a wide selection of cases which you can easily try for yourself. The buttons on the main window can be either used for rolling the dice or for selecting numbers. Simple Roulette Calculator is an elegant online betting game in which you have to guess the number selected by the dealer from a number of preset digit combinations. If you guess correctly, your bet will be paid, but if you guess wrong, you will lose your stake. Before each round you can review your latest bet and modify it in case you want to bet more or less. You must take your betting decision when the game ends, not in the middle of the game, otherwise the game is not declared over and you cannot review your choices. Of course, you can review your choices later by clicking on the "Review" button. You can also view the dealer's selections and your last bet by clicking on the "View" button. You don't need to choose from the list of all combinations, you can choose only one combination in order to get different bets, you can choose the bet's odds or the amount to win. You can also choose the button type, red or green. The button types are displayed in front of the number that will be picked randomly. The numbers that have been selected by the dealer are colored in blue and the winning numbers are colored in red. In the table section, you can view the results of each round and you can see the last won amount in the money prize section. You can also choose to view the next round's outcome, in order to analyze the game statistics, even if you aren't interested in the game outcome.
