Pakistan Penal Code (PPC) 5.
INDIAN PENAL CODE (1860).
Pakistani Law The Crime The law is set forth in section 1 (a) of the Code.
1(a) The law shall be simple in its language, easy to understand, free from technicalities, and based on natural justice. It should be practical and adapted to the needs of the people. It is not sufficient that it protects the land from physical damage. It must also protect the people from the loss of money, and prevent these losses from degenerating into political or economic power and influence. It should be made general so as to serve as a wise guide and help to people in the search of their rights and remedies. It should be enforced, and offenders punished. It should cover all crimes and misdemeanors. It should be uniform throughout all parts of the country, so that acts committed in any one part can be similarly punished in another. The language should be indigenous to the region of Pakistan. There should be a uniform system of procedure in every case with respect to the form of procedure and mode of trial. The law should not be a weapon for oppression by the authorities, but should safeguard the rights of the people. It is a collaboration or an agreement which requires each of the parties to act in a reciprocal way. It is an act performed either by two or more persons or by an individual and by others. It is a crime and should be punished by criminal law. It is an offence punishable with imprisonment for a term of one to five years. 1. Identity. 2. Second-degree sexual assault Pakistan Penal Code Section Definition Article 342A. Sexual assault. Whoever, except in such cases as are provided for in sub-section (1) of section 342, inserts, attempts to insert, or causes to be inserted, any part of the sexual organ of another person, or touches, applies any part of the sexual organ of the actor to the mouth or to the anus of the other person or causes to be touched, applied, or caused to be touched, any part of the sexual organ of the other person, commits the offence of sexual assault. 1. Persons who have attained fourteen years of age shall be presumed to be of full age until they are eighteen years of age. 2. For the purposes of this Code, a person of full age shall be presumed to be of full age in any case not provided for 570a42141b
