Manage your pigeons with ease using the Pigeon Loft Organizer Cracked Version application! Compatible with iOS 9.2 and up, Pigeon Loft Organizer allows you to keep track of your birds and their progeny, including records of ring numbers, color, strain, name, date hatched, pictures, pairing, breeding, and more. Create a database or upload it from your PC or Mac. From there, you can choose to assign ring number, name, and color to each bird. As you collect data, you'll be able to track each bird's past and future activities, including flights and races. If you own a hatchery and would like to get an estimate on the babies you're about to hatch, you can use the app to quickly get a ballpark price. You can also add geographical information, such as pictures, and even add to the database with additional data. The Pigeon Loft Organizer is the most comprehensive pigeon tracking application available. You can track all your birds at once, or keep track of different categories. You can even track your pigeons from the app to your computer or mac. Pigeon Loft Organizer has the following features: Generate a record, manage breeders, upload and manage databases, categorize, export, import, start races, manage birds, manage hatcheries, show data, track flights, track races, track mates, view friends, view favorites, view progeny, and more. Show less Birds of a feather can flock together – that's the premise behind the flockings app, designed to bring birds with matching or similar characteristics together to increase their chances of producing viable offspring. The app boasts the ability to display up to five birds at the same time, and features automatic identification of the birds and their proximity. Once data is entered, it's stored in a private database and can be shared with friends through e-mail, text messages, or social media. Flockings comes with a host of features, including the ability to identify the color and characteristics of birds. This is done by selecting colors for the body and head of birds in question, and the application then identifies and stores the applicable birds, along with their data. As mentioned, the app can even scan in pictures, whereupon the program will identify and store the individual birds in question, with information about each of them attached. The front end of the application is very intuitive, and features a color palette, which lets you choose the colors you want to
