This was an easy target because I will be using it as a home defense weapon. I also will be using it to hunt and shoot skeet. I've always wanted one, but never thought I could use it. Now I'm taking the plunge and I figure if I don't like it, I can use it until I outgrow it. Anyway, I pulled out my old bolt action and was amazed by the weight of the gun. I didn't expect it to be as heavy as it was. I started pulling it down the range. Let me tell you, it is a hoot shooting one handed. And the recoil was kind of mild. This is a nice weapon. I needed to be able to hit the target on the first shot. The rifle is a great shooter, but not with a pistol. I'm looking for a scope. After looking around I decided on the Vektor 3x9x40 rifle scope. It has a 2 MOA elevation adjustment and a focus hold button. I'm excited about the scope! Anyways, I'm now almost done with the scope. Once I get the scope adjusted and everything, I'll post a picture. So here is
