Should I get a MacBook Pro or an Apple TV? - pbhowmic I'm planning on getting a new laptop and I'm wondering what would be the best setup? A Macbook Pro with OSX or an Apple TV with Airplay/Miracast or something else. I've read some of the forums and and most people seem to prefer Macbook Pro for OSX mainly, but I'm wondering what else there is to choose from. ===== jgrahamc I would recommend both. Apple TV makes a good set top box, and if you like Apple's stuff you'll probably enjoy it. Get the Windows version, it's nicer (better HiDPI screen) I personally would recommend a MacBook Pro over a new iPhone or iPad, although I'd probably want a laptop myself as well so that I don't get caught in the holster with an iPhone. ----- alfiedotwtf Macbook Pro: \- Desktop\ Gaming\ Coffee shop\ (open 3-4 days a week) Apple TV: \- Watch movies\ (No desktop at all - only a TV) ~~~ pbhowmic Interesting. I was originally going to get an Air because it's smaller, but I can probably get by with the Macbook. ----- stevecalifornia You should really research this before you buy a product. I bought a MacBook Pro and soon found out that it's not a great laptop for back-to-school. It's ok to use in school, but as a programmer I got discouraged. I got a Dell Latitude E6410 as my main laptop and I've found it a pleasure to use as a dual programmer and editor. It has three monitors, a touchscreen, full keyboard, removable hard drive and RAM upgrade. ~~~ pbhowmic > You should really research this before you buy a product. Thanks for the tip. I'll definitely look into it. > I got a Dell Latitude E6410 as my main laptop and I've found it a pleasure 1cdb3666d

5.0. There's no documentation on how to request the permissions dialog in the release 5.0, so I'm trying to use the old method, `onRequestPermissionsResult`. The problem is, it's not being called at all. The `WebView` is present on both the app's main activity and another activity's layout. In the manifest, I have given the activity permission: and the `onCreate` method: `requestPermissions(new String[]{Manifest.permission.READ_SMS},`
