PassGen Portable is a free software and opensource project, using the original code of the PassGen program and some additional features. It's an easy-to-use portable password generation utility that offers various customizable options, enabling you to generate random strong passwords of your choice, based on various rules. It runs without installation and can be simply copied to any directory and launched from any executable file location on the hard disk. The only issue, however, is that it creates and updates a configuration file every time you ask it to save your setting. The application's main window can be viewed from any place, and some configuration parameters can be adjusted directly from a popup window. There are options for creating passwords that start or end with a specific character, etc. Besides these key features, PassGen Portable's general layout and functionality are basically the same as its non-portable counterpart: it also has a plain-looking GUI, and provides options for random generation of passwords and for creating as many keys as you want. PassGen Portable (Passgen Portable) is a totally free software for generating random strong passwords. It is available for Windows platform only. The software allows you to define basic password conditions, such as length, number of characters, etc. You also can create rule-based passwords, protected by a master password. How the software works? As you configure basic options, the application starts generating random keys. It is simple to use, as you can see the generated keys. PassGen Portable is a portable application, which means that you do not need to install it on your computer. Just copy it to a USB memory drive (Flash drive, CD-RW or any other medium) and use it on any computer. It supports Windows 2000, Windows XP, Windows Vista, Windows 7, Windows 8, Windows 10 and Windows Server. You can even use this utility on Mac OS X. PassGen Portable comes free of charge and you can support this project by donating it. You can also purchase related products to support this project.
