MOTION CAPTURE High-Definition Footage A full-blown integration of motion capture technology on a high-definition monitor for a more lifelike experience. The ball is rendered in true-to-life sizes on an HD image for the ultimate in accuracy and fluidity of ball movement. The players are also connected to the ball via physically-based shooting mechanics, allowing the gamer to easily shoot on target and feel the ball fly through the air and land on the opponent's goal. Player Portraits and Visual Effects Face paint applied via a transfer process to create player faces that can then be lightened to allow for the tracking of faces for the player, while allowing the skin and background to shine through. The player's back can also be mirrored during motion capture, allowing for faces to be generated for both the player's left and right side, and for the player's face to be filtered through virtual lenses to match the camera view, giving players the appearance of wearing the visor of a motion-capture suit. This also makes it possible to generate a player's face on the side of a helmet, which can also be used as a standard visual effect. Gameplay Motion Control The motion capture system enables players to shoot while running, to flick the ball into play using the right analog stick or to pass the ball from hand-to-hand. The motion capture kit also allows players to dribble with the left analog stick and controls the player's run with the left stick. New Gameplay Features Create-A-Striker Create a custom striker using the Create-A-Striker function and select an attacking style, then assign the player traits and visual effects. Once that's done, the created player can then be saved and re-used throughout the duration of the game. Real Player Feedback All the information from the sensor, including on-the-ball actions and events, can be interpreted, processed and given to the player's opponent. Dynamic Player Paths Adjustments to opponent players' path and head, as well as the ability to intercept passes, are introduced as a result of the input of the artificial intelligence. Glitch Shots The player

JUROR'S GUIDE How a JUROR works A JUROR is either a Sports Interactive employee or a user-submitted selection to represent a specific category. JURORS vote on issues such as: Review a game - Does it deserve to be featured on this website? What does it deserve to be called? What is its place in the review? What does it deserve to be called? Do the articles help it or harm it? Should it feature in the weekly review or not? There are a lot of things that we review that don't have a clear definition. For example, "What does it deserve to be called?" represents a specific conflict about how an actual game should be named; such is the case with the "What does it deserve to be called?" entries in this week's report. Last week we covered a PS3 exclusive, and we looked back on the history of the platform. This week, we go out and review a Wii U exclusive, and welcome a new host, the curator of this week's review - as well as another familiar face, the game designer himself. Check out the review below! Disco Dots is a great party game for your next party. Even if you don't have a Nintendo Wii U yet or never play it, you can download the game using the SD card. An additional code can also be bought on the site, but this is a great opportunity to test your luck and see how it fits in your party. Check out the review below! If you don't have a 3DS but still want to have a go at the game, you can get an additional code in our store. Not too much choice about which country you are from, though. The digital version of the game is priced at $11.29, this version is priced at $25.24. LIL' MOMMA S GAME! Greetings, lovers of cute animals. When I was a kid I did not like to play computer games.
