Shrew Soft VPN Client is a safe means to transfer files over an IPsec VPN connection. Shrew Soft VPN Client 2.0 Review: This is a very simple tool to use. It can be used on most Windows platforms, even on Mac's and Linux systems. Shrew Soft VPN Client does have a number of pre-configured IPsec VPN connections for use in hosted environments, this feature also comes with the ability to create our own. You can create a single connection or create a group of connections. There is also an option to automatically restart the connections when a failure occurs. Shrew Soft VPN Client 2.0 has a very simple to use user interface. There is a main window and a configuration window. The main window is where you can create a new connection, import existing connections from a file or import existing connections from the host. This window also has an option that allows you to create and import a number of connections for use later. A button appears on the main window that will bring up the configuration window. This option has all of the configuration required to set up a new connection as well as various pre-set connections for use in hosted environments. A very nice feature of this configuration window is that it will connect you to the internet using the same IP as the one you are connecting to the VPN host with. If your IP changes to a different IP address than the one you are connecting to, a connection will still be established. When creating a new connection, you are given the choice to make it either a single connection or a connection group. You are also given the option to select a name for the new connection and you are able to save the connection after creating it. Additional connections can be added to the configuration window by right clicking on the space where they are listed and selecting "Add VPN connection". This will open up a list of all the available connections on the VPN server. Shrew Soft VPN Client 2.0 Comments: Shrew Soft VPN Client 2.0 Setup Process: Shrew Soft VPN Client 2.0 Setup is very straightforward. The main window will open up to a screen with a list of all the available connections on the VPN host. You are able to add new connections to this list by right clicking the area where they are listed and choosing "Add VPN connection". Next, you need to enter the
