Along with the feature, FIFA 22 introduces a brand new match engine and all new 3rd-person camera, which allows players to actually see what's going on around them. Players now become aware of the player in front of them and their real-life teammates. A brand new Control Wheel-based contextual controls system allows players to change directions and passes on-the-fly, using the left and right cues on the wheel. In addition, you can now pass to or from any of your teammates, while also supporting all gestures and the new button and stick controls. Additionally, you'll also have new options when it comes to choosing your team and formation. Only 11 players can be in the pitch at once, so choosing the right 11 will be critical. The "xG" concept, which has already proven a huge success in FIFA 17, is back again. We have introduced a brand new "Simultaneous Switching" system, which allows you to select the best 11 players during a match by simply tapping on players. By the time the match starts, you will get a realistic look at the starting 11 players. This technology also allows you to run 2 players out of position, in a similar way to the "Simultaneous Switching" system that has been working since the FIFA Ultimate Team days. More details about FIFA 22 will be revealed over the coming months. In the meantime, you can check out some screenshots below and our official FAQs, which you can find at fueifa.com.
