That resolution's adoption by the council is one of the first steps for Albany to become a "progressive model for the U.S. and the world," the council's Latino Caucus said in a statement. It comes as state Attorney General Eric Schneiderman has threatened to sue the Israeli arms company Elbit Systems for its role in building the separation barrier around Israel's West Bank. Albany city council President Carolyn McLaughlin says she would encourage private companies to divest from Israel. Council members says they also hope to work with the New York State Catholic Conference and other faith-based organizations. "This is the first time that the world is seeing a city that is affirming its right to dignity and right to be respected," says McLaughlin.Q: How do you make a reusable call that will get the next n items from a list (Linq, C#)? This is what my implementation is right now: `var q = MyCollection.Where(y => y.MyProperty == 25); q = q.Skip(1); q = q.Take(5);` I'd like to create an extension method that does something like this: `q = MyCollection.Where(y => y.MyProperty == 25).ExtractNext(5);` In that example, `ExtractNext()` would return
