Q: How does selenium recognize search box's element? I wanted to test whether Selenium driver can recognize the search box on a page I make an following script with input type text and a button. Even though both are within a form, only the first one is visible to selenium, but also the button is visible to selenium. for some reason it didn't recognize the search box is the form nor the input type text. The problem is that I can't control the site because the search box is hard coded in the JS. Using inspect element with firefox, I could see the search box. Selenium seems to miss this element. So I can't test whether the search box is visible from the locator. My code:

public class MyApp { public void main() { IWebDriver driver = new FirefoxDriver(); driver.Navigate().GoToUrl(""); IWebElement searchBox = driver.FindElement(By.Id("lst-ib")); String value = searchBox.Text;

//searchBox.Value = "search"; //se
archBox.SendKeys(Keyboard.F); //searchBox.Submit();

```
driver.Close(); } } A: The reason you can't get the value is that the search box is hidden when the page is loaded. You can use JS to make the element visible.

```
driver.ExecuteScript("var elem = document.getElementById('lst-ib');") elem.click(); var value = elem.value; Currently, the vast majority of circuit board and system interconnect implementations use a set of

interconnects to communicate between a hardware device and other hardware or software devices. The most common forms of interconnect include a single wire, a multi-wire ribbon cable, and a multi-wire flat cable. As the desire to reduce system cost has resulted in an increase in functionality per device, the number of wires that must be handled at any given location life after percutaneous coronary intervention in the elderly. The outcomes following coronary angioplasty in elderly patients are poor and without benefit. The burden of symptoms and quality of life is not well characterized. We assessed the symptoms and quality of life after coronary angioplasty in elderly patients. We surveyed patients referred for elective coronary angioplasty to University of California, San Francisco (UCSF) in 2000 and 2001. The survey included the Angina Severity Scale (ASS) questionnaire, and visual analog scales (VAS) to assess symptoms, health and financial impact of angina. Of 114 patients eligible, 97 (86%) responded. The average age was 70.7 +/- 5.3 years (range 58-80), and 88% were male. Nineteen percent were diabetic. After angioplasty, the majority (81%) reported improvement in symptoms, and the vast majority (94%) were satisfied with the outcome. Angina frequency was reduced by an average of 1.5

To control the spread of the virus, people should abstain from sexual activity. The Zika virus, which is transmitted by mosquitoes, has long been known to only cause fever, rash and joint pain in adults. A researcher from the Catholic University of Brazil has observed that pregnant women who are infected with the virus have given birth to babies with microcephaly. The latest news about the spread of the Zika virus in Brazil came from Dr. Margaret Chan, Director General of the WHO on January 16, 2017. As per the reports, the WHO spokesperson has said that " Zika spread to the Americas and is now in the Dominican
