Who Should Enroll in ACLS Classes?

PDRE's ACLS certification is essential for:

- Healthcare Providers: Doctors, nurses, EMTs, paramedics, and allied health professionals.
- Non-Healthcare Professionals: First responders, lifeguards, teachers, and any individuals interested in emergency preparedness.

- Students & Novices: Beginners in medical or healthcare careers can start with foundational courses like BLS before advancing to ACLS or PALS.

By enrolling in PDRE, you gain not only a certification but the confidence to act decisively in critical situations.

The PDRE Advantage

Experienced Instructors

Our instructors are highly qualified professionals with extensive healthcare backgrounds. They provide individualized guidance, feedback, and mentoring throughout the course.

Hands-On Training

PDRE emphasizes practical skills. Through simulations, mock codes, and scenario-based learning, students experience realistic emergency situations. This ensures readiness to respond efficiently in real-life clinical settings.

Ongoing Support & Resources

PDRE is more than a certification center. We provide continuous access to educational resources, study materials, and professional guidance. Students can revisit learning modules online or attend refresher sessions as needed.

Additional Training & Healthcare Programs

PDRE is also affiliated with Southern California Nursing Academy, Replenish 360, and Allure Medically Directed Spa®, offering diverse healthcare education:

- Certified Nurse Assistant (CNA) / Nurse Assistant Training Programs (NATP): Career-oriented training with scholarship opportunities.
- IV Hydration Therapy (Replenish 360): Learn the science of intravenous therapy, vitamin infusions, and wellness treatments.
- Aesthetic & Cosmetic Education (Allure Spa): Hands-on training in injectables, dermal fillers, and aesthetic therapies.

These programs complement ACLS certification for a holistic healthcare education experience.
